EPA has not evaluated the CPG's "Sustainable Remedy", because many of the technical details that support the CPG's claims have not been provided to EPA.

hi Alice,

Good to meet you last night.

Can you respond to CPG's "Sustainable Remedy" for cleaning up the river? They offer very few details in their press release, but say the plan would take "just a few years" to complete, would target the lower 17 miles of river, and would include community-based projects.

It would be good to hear your views on their plan, and to understand more about how it differs from EPA's.

I'm writing story today, so would be good to get any comments as soon as possible.

thanks

Jon Hurdle
